Apprenticeship How to:

Need-to-know information for businesses working to grow talent within their workforce

Is your company looking for a solution for hiring people with the qualifications needed for highly-skilled positions? Have you considered implementing an apprenticeship program?

An apprenticeship program combines on-the-job training with theoretical and practical classroom and lab instruction.

Macomb Community College has a robust program in place for a variety of careers each in accordance with federal guidelines and Industry standards.

Attend this session to hear from company leaders that have successfully built a workforce through this type of structured program and learn how the college can get you started.
