Macomb County continues to recognize outstanding businesses

Macomb County will host the fourth annual Macomb County Business Awards Breakfast on Feb. 9, 2016. Featuring a celebrity emcee, guest speakers, exceptional networking opportunities and many special touches, the event has become a “must-attend” for the community.

Nominations are now open for the following categories:

- Champion of Workforce Development – utilizing innovative practices for hiring, training and retaining employees
- Corporate Citizen – offering meaningful community support through service and/or philanthropic participation
- Diversification Leader – generating new business by expanding products/services provided or tapping new markets
- Efficiency Expert – increasing cash flow through process and/or energy efficiencies
- Model of OneMacomb – cultivating an environment where diversity and inclusion are valued
- Startup Business to Watch – growing with less than four years in operation and more than two full-time employees

“This event is a great opportunity for our community to recognize organizations of all sizes,” said Macomb County Executive Mark A. Hackel. “Whether they are working to create a culture where employees are valued and given opportunities to advance or implementing strategies for increasing market share or finding new ways to increase efficiency, we want to celebrate and recognize the many businesses that are thriving in Macomb County.”

Each nominated company will be highlighted on the Macomb County website and in the event program book.

Nominations will be accepted until Nov. 12. For more details and access to the online nomination form, visit www.MacombBusiness.com/bizawards.
